Seventh-day Adventist Church
William E. Carpenter, Pastor

Elder W. D. Frazee, from Winfield, Ga., was guest speaker at the Seventh-day Adventist Church on Court Street in Appomattox Saturday, May 2.

Addressing the 11 o'clock service, Frazee discussed "The Five Cities of Refuge" as found in Joshua 20: 1-6. He likened these cities unto Christ to whom we can refuge from the raging storms— stated as in these troublesome times. These six cities were scattered to the Levites— three on each side of the river Jordan to which the manslayer might flee for safety. The appointment of these cities had been made by Moses. The slayer may flee from there which each person unawares. He said that "the manslayers die not until he stand before the congregation in judgement, that they might give the murderer a fair trial."

This provision was made possible by the sacred custom of private vengeance by which the punishment of the murderer devolved on the nearest relative or the next heir of the deceased.

Again Elder Frazee compared this with the provision Christ provides for us. Any person— Hebrew, stranger or sojourner might avail himself of protection. After going tried by proper authorities and only when found innocent of intentional murder was he to be protected in the city of refuge. The guilty was given up to the avenger.

He also compared these cities of refuge with our churches, schools and homes. There are people near you who have never been privileged to be in a home where devotional periods are observed. Coming with these words, "My brethren you can be as cities of refuge for God to some one near you." Prov. 18:10 says "The name of the Lord is a strong tower the righteous— runneth into it and is safe." Read Romans 8:1.

LIVE BAIT TANK
Keep minnows alive on long auto runs the way professional bait dealers do. They take their tank and make a tight cover, through this they run a copper tube down into the water of tank nearly to bottom. Another short copper tube goes through top but does not go below the surface of water. The vaccum tube from windshield wiper attaches to this short tube. Air sucking into wiper creates a vacuum between the surface of the water and the top. That sucks air through the long tube. Bubbles aerate water. Minnows thrive.

1964 Wheat Diversion Program

Farmers who seeded a wheat crop last fall and haven't yet signed under the 1964 voluntary wheat program should lose no time in checking with the ASCS county office.

Most such farmers who planted within, or very near to, their 1964 allotments gain several advantages by participating in the new program. J. A. Martin, Chairman of the Appomattox County ASCS Committee said yesterday.

"I believe farmers will find many attractive features in this wheat program that merit their careful consideration", Mr. Martin said. "This is particularly true where they've complied, or nearly complied, with the 1964 wheat allotments we sent them last May. All they have to do now is drop by the ASCS office. If they have planted within the allotment, or adjusted to that allotment, they can participate in the new program in several ways. They can get (1) diversion payments on acreage put to conservation use; (2) certificate payments on planted acreage of wheat based on normal yield; and (3) price - support loans on the wheat harvested."

To realize these advantages under the 1964 wheat program Mr. Martin emphasized that they must sign for participation by May 15. There's no extension of that deadline date.

After signing up and qualifying as a participant, the Chairman said that such growers may:

(1) stay within the farm's 1964 acreage allotment from which the minimum diversion has already been deducted.

(2) devote to conserving use at least 11.11 per cent of the farm allotment (that's because the allotment already reflects a 10 per cent National allotment reduction from 55 to 49.5 million acres.)

(3) stay within the allotment for other allotment crops on the participating farm.

(4) stay within the wheat allotment on any other allotment farms in which the grower has an interest in wheat.

By participating in the voluntary wheat program, a wheat grower will be eligible for an acreage diversion payment in Appomattox County at an average rate of $6.97 (per acre).

The program provides for certificate payments on wheat planted within the farm allotment based on normal production. The certificates will have a cash value of 70 cents per bushel for the domestic marketing certificates, representing the producer's share of the wheat allocated for U. S. food, and 25 cents per bushel for the export marketing certificates, covering his share of the export marketing allocation.

Mr. Martin urged farmers not yet signed under the new wheat program to get details at the ASCS county office before the May 15 deadline date.

The ASCS office is open for business Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. This Saturday, May 9, the office will also be open from 8:30 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. Interested wheat farmers who cannot get to the office during the regular hours are invited to come in on May 9 and get information on the program.
